DEAR HIRING MANAGER,

I have been working at Shopify for the last 3 and a half years. Throughout this journey I have worked in all aspects of web development, front- and back-end, with a variety of technologies including React and Ruby On Rails.

I am an excellent candidate for this role because I approach every problem with curiosity and interest. I have a growth mindset, and believe that challenges are learning opportunities rather than obstacles. This informs my approach to software engineering: every problem has a solution, and I look for the solution with excited curiosity rather than frustration.

I believe development is a team sport, and every individual has a different set of strengths and knowledge to contribute to solving a problem. I love spending my workday not just solving problems, but working together to solve them with my team. I look forward to the opportunity to contribute to the Splunk team!

Thank you for your consideration,
Tevye Cowan
